Miss Yvonne Thompson, 17 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe E. Thompson and a Pahokee High School Senior was selected the "Good Citizen" of Pahokee High School this year and received a pin and certificate from the Seminole Chapter of The Daughters of the American Revolution Tuesday afternoon, April 10, at the Bethesda-by-the-Sea Church in Palm Beach. She was in the class play, Ad Editor of the yearbook, and was selected by her classmates as "most popular" and "Best All Round" girl in the Senior class.

Garden Clubs Met Tuesday Park Bldg.

Mrs. William Swanson of Lake Worth was guest speaker at the combined meeting of the Pahokee Garden Club, the Canal Point Garden Club and the Sod Busters at the Canal Point Community Hall, Tuesday, with Mrs. Frank Friend, president, presiding. Mrs. Swanson illustrated flower-arranging, stressing especially the use of simple materials found in the usual back yard.

The president announced that reservations must be in by May 7, for the meeting of the Florida Federation of Garden Clubs to be held at the Mounts Building in West Palm Beach on May 10.

Mrs. Claude Shirley was appointed chairman of the committee to arrange the flowers for the Easter Sunrise Service. Mrs. D. M. Hillier, delegate to the State Federation meeting in Jacksonville, gave a report.

Mrs. Annette McCurdy, Mrs. W. C. Darden, Mrs. H. J. Batchelor and Mrs. John Sheffield had charge of the sandwich luncheon which followed the meeting.

BACK TO DETROIT

Mrs. Mary Lampi, who has been the guest of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert O. Lampi, since January, flew to Detroit, Tuesday, where she will visit relatives for several days before returning to her home in Eagle River, Mich.

It took a lot of doing on the part of the popular and youthful Glades manager of the Telephone Company—Bob Lee of Belle Glade—to get everything in readiness for the change-over in the Pahokee exchange from ordinary dialing to the unipolar—seven to be exact—digit dialing which went into effect at midnight on Saturday, April 14.

For months Manager Lee has been anxiously watching every move made by a big group of Western Electric experts who have installed necessary equipment for the change-over which will, eventually and probably within the next two years—make it possible to dial long distance from your own home or office phone. Shown in the picture, left to right, burning the midnight oil at the changeover to put the new dialing system into action are: Plant Manager M. E. Ludlow, County Commissioner Paul Rardin, Pahokee Mayor Duncan Padgett and Mr. Lee. The Commissioner and the Mayor are pushing the button that brought about the modern and up-to-date dialing system in the Pahokee Exchange.

Pahokee Will Find How School Stands

The re-evaluation committee of the Southern Association of Schools and Colleges will visit Pahokee High School next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday to make its evaluation study, according to Brooks Henderson, principal.

Parents and patrons of the school are urged to be present for the report of the committee, Mr. Henderson said.

Ramie Bridge To Be Built In 60 Days

The newly contracted concrete bridge, to be built over Pahokee Drainage District's main canal on new Ramie Road 1 1/4 miles south from Conners Highway six miles east of Canal Point, will be completed within the next 60 days, the contractor, Cleary Brothers Construction Company of West Palm Beach told County Commissioner Paul Rardin yesterday.

Test piling will be driven by the contractor on Monday of next week and actual construction should start within ten days after the test is made. The bridge is being built for the county in a road expansion program into the sugar cane and vegetable growing area, Commissioner Rardin said. The cost of the bridge is around $15,000.

The new Ramie Road south from the old Ramie Mill for a distance of 2 1/2 miles is extended from the south end of the black top Ramie road at the mill. Another four mile extension is in the talking stage and this connection would take it all the way to the Airport Road at Belle Glade, if built.

This proposed four mile extension can be built, Commissioner Rardin said, if the same sort of cooperation is received from the farmers that was available on the 2 1/2 mile stretch. On the 2 1/2 miles the growers and land owners participated to the amount of $7,500.00 per mile with the county standing the remainder of the expense and building the road.

The road is up on the new 2 1/2 mile extension and grader and bulldozer equipment is on the job, building shoulders and leveling the surface. The road will be ready for travel by the time the new bridge is built, Rardin concluded.

Miss Young Married To Charles E. Clark

The marriage of Miss Delores Suzanne Young, daughter of Remey Young, Pahokee, and Mrs. G. G. Baldwin, Palatka, to Charles Edward Clark, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Clark of Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, was solemnized in a double ring ceremony at the Pahokee First Baptist Church Sunday, April 8. The couple repeated their vows before an altar decorated with tall baskets of white mums and gladioli against a background of palms, with Rev. Guthrie Colvard, pastor, officiating.

Miss Jill McIlwain, pianist, played the traditional wedding marches and accompanied Miss Shirley Kincaid, soloist, who sang "Because," "Eternally" and "The Wedding Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a floor-length gown of candlelight white satin. Her bouffant veil was attached to a crown of candlelight roses. She carried a white Bible centered with pink vanda orchids, sweetheart roses and white satin streamers studded with pink rosebuds.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Remey E. Young, sister-in-law of the bride, wore a silk organza in blush pink with tiered ruffles on the skirt and a matching medallion headpiece with circular veil. Her crescent bouquet was of pink carnations.

Robert Meyer served as best man for the groom, and Remey E. (Sonny) Young, brother of the bride, and Edwin Wagner were ushers.

The bride's mother wore a dress of aqua silk with white accessories and her corsage was a purple orchid.

Mrs. Clark, mother of the groom, chose a beige silk for her son's wedding with matching accessories and purple orchid corsage.

A reception was held in the Fellowship Hall of the church, immediately following the ceremony, with Mrs. D. W. Cunningham, Mrs. Allan Fowler and Miss Shirley Kincaid serving the traditional wedding cake and punch.

The couple left for their wedding trip with the bride wearing a beige jersey dress with matching accessories and an orchid corsage. After a honeymoon in the northern part of Florida they will make their home in Miami where he is attending college.

COMMISSION CANDIDATE

John L. Archie, former mayor of Boynton Beach, is a candidate for county commissioner in District No. 4 of Palm Beach County. That district is now represented by Ben F. Sundy of Delray Beach.

Archie, since coming to Florida, has resided in Palm Beach County and has served in many capacities in civic and government projects. While Mayor of Boynton Beach, he helped initiate or complete a new $1,370,000 water treatment plant and distribution system, a new public library, athletic field, civic center and shuffleboard courts and complete new sewage facilities amounting to over 3 million dollars. All this, stated Archie, was accomplished without raising ad valorem taxes and, in fact, reducing them.

Harvesters Must Observe Labor Law

MIAMI—Contractors and crews who engage migrant families for Florida's annual vegetable and fruit harvests need to know the child-labor requirements of the Fair Labor Standards Act. Rufus L. Stokes said here today.

Stokes is manager of the Wage-and-Hour and Public Contracts Divisions field office at Room 219, Carlisle Building, 12490 N. E. 7th Avenue, Miami. He supervises enforcement of the Federal child-labor laws in 11 counties in East Central Florida.

"It is equally important that the head of every migrant family understand the Federal law," Stokes pointed out. "It applies in all states and prohibits employment of children under 16 years of age during hours when local schools are in session. It provides severe penalties for willful violations."

Stokes noted that some family groups had signed for harvest work when the recruiting teams paid their annual visit to Pahokee on Monday.

Representatives from local Employment Service offices distributed folders entitled "Child Labor in Agriculture" to many employers at that time. These explain the law and set out ways in which to comply. Stokes said that his office had additional copies of the folder. They will be mailed on request.

Folk Festival For White Springs In May

WHITE SPRINGS — Dozens of Florida cities, towns and communities will be represented by participants in the 10th annual Florida Folk Festival to be held here on the banks of the Suwannee River May 4-5, Thelma A. Boltin, special events director at the Stephen Foster Memorial, said in announcing plans for the colorful event.

"In addition, we will have participants from Georgia, Alabama and other southern states, and from as far away as Oklahoma and Colorado," she said.

The festival, one of the state's most ambitious and outstanding Spring entertainment programs, has grown from a small beginning to a point where more than 2,000 persons perform during the seven programs held each year the first weekend in May.

Appearing on a shady, outdoor stage overlooking the Suwannee, the costumed participants will demonstrate old-time arts, crafts and customs; will present folksongs and dances, and relate folkside tales and primitive superstitions, Miss Boltin said. On the programs will be Seminole Indians, shape-note singers, whip crackers, old-time fiddlers, water witches, dulcimer and harmonica players, straw beaters and many other entertainers, performing singly and in groups.

The festival is sponsored by the Stephen Foster Memorial Commission, in cooperation with the Florida Folk Festival Association and the Florida Federation of Music Clubs.

The Farm Front
 by Doyle Connor
 Commissioner
 Florida
 Department of Agriculture

I don't believe there has ever been a time when Mr. and Mrs. Consumer — the great American public — have enjoyed as many different kinds of protection as we have today.

Numerous Florida laws, many of them enforced by the Department of Agriculture, have been legislated from time to time to protect consumers in our own state. Similar laws, both state and Federal, are being enforced all over the nation in the interests of consumers. They cover, in one way or another, most every type of product and service you can name.

The number and variety of these laws has increased with the economic development of our nation. Many, both in Florida and throughout the country, and at the Federal level too, have been revised from time to time to meet the needs arising from the introduction of new products and the growth of new kinds of businesses.

There was a time in America when frontier housewives were victimized by "Yankee peddlers" who sold them such things as wooden nutmegs; when the traveling medicine showman offered elixir good for man or beast and "guaranteed" to cure anything from ingrowing toenails to gallstones; when dangerously adulterated, synthetic and substitute foods posed serious threats to public health.

Since time immemorial "the public" has been considered fair prey by those intent on practicing fraud or deception. One who profited mightily in this field — that old super-showman, P. T. Barnum — voiced the opinion that "there's a sucker born every minute." And the shady brethren for generations have operated on the theory that you "never give a sucker an even break."

We've made considerable progress in business ethics since the days when horse trading was governed by the old Latin proverb "Caveat emptor" — Let the buyer beware. But Mr. and Mrs. Consumer are still in need of continuous protection of their interests and their health. Though our American public has become more sophisticated, so have the methods for taking advantage of the unwary and uninformed.

Extensive and varied as our various governmental activities are in the enforcement of laws to protect consumers, President Kennedy has asked for wider powers in this field at the Federal level. In a recent message to Congress he requested new legislation to expand protection of consumers in a number of areas from drugs to advertising.

Two parts of his message are of particular interest to us in the Department of Agriculture because in our work of enforcing certain consumer-interest statutes, our inspectors are well acquainted with conditions that require careful supervision to protect the buying public.

In a reference to food, the President noted that one fifth, or 20 per cent, of the meat slaughtered in the United States is not inspected. He urged broadening of the Meat Inspection Act to cover all meat slaughtered in this country. Previously, the U. S. Department of Agriculture had announced its intention to seek legislation requiring all livestock that has moved in interstate commerce to be slaughtered in Federally-inspected plants.

In the past several months we've made great progress in extending the coverage of our State Meat Inspection service which performs a function for meat to be sold within the state the same as Federal inspection does for meat that is sold in interstate commerce.

Since mid-August, 1961, we've added to our list 32 meat processing establishments in various parts of Florida, bringing our total in this category to 132. In the same period, we've added 5 slaughtered establishments for a total now of 55. Total of commercial slaughter and meat processing plants covered by our State Meat Inspection service now is 187.

In his reference to packaging and labeling, the President said a survey will be made of abuses in this field. In this area, too, our Division of Inspections is keeping close watch on any developments that tend to deceive a consumer, whether he's buying the "giant economy" size or trying to choose the best buy of two cans of beans with different prices.

I can't repeat too often: "If you want to know what you're buying — Read The Label!" Price alone doesn't establish a bargain. Quantity and ingredients also enter into the picture and in many products besides food these must be stated on the label for consumer guidance.

You might be puzzled by the President's request to give the Federal Trade Commission power to cancel a trademark that becomes a common description of a product until you realize that "aspirins," "automobile," and many other common words today might have been copyrightable at the time of their origin.

It's not impossible, however, that some heated arguments could develop between our experts on language as to whether and when a trademark word has become accepted and, therefore, common. After noting the storm of criticism raised by the recent third edition of the Webster's New International Dictionary because it "accepts" thousands of words heretofore believed to be "slang, colloquial, erroneous, incorrect or illiterate," I wonder what authority can be relied on to set a standard for our language.

"Today we need a nation of Minute Men citizens who regard the preservation of freedom as a basic purpose of their daily life"

—JOHN FITZGERALD KENNEDY

10 days after his inauguration
as the 35th President of the United States.

Twenty years ago, in the dark, uneasy days before Pearl Harbor, the Minute Man of Concord, timeless symbol of our Nation's determination to defend its freedom, emerged as the emblem of the U. S. Savings Bonds Program. When war came, the Minute Man became the rallying force behind the huge and overwhelmingly successful effort to back our fighting men with War Bonds.

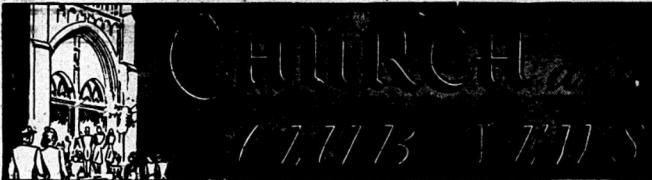

In this, the 20th anniversary year of Savings Bonds, the Minute Man of Concord calls all Americans to an unremitting effort to help preserve our peace and freedom, threatened by forces more powerful and resourceful than those we faced in 1941. Though this effort will take many forms, one way open to all is the continued investment in Shares in America, U. S. Savings Bonds, by "citizens who regard the preservation of freedom as a basic purpose of their daily life."

For 20 years America's newspapers have published Savings Bonds advertisements. The U. S. Treasury Dept. is grateful to The Advertising Council and this newspaper for their patriotic support!

VISIT IN GAINESVILLE

Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Kincaid and daughter, Shirley, will leave today (Friday) to spend the weekend in Gainesville with Mr. and Mrs. Francis Kincaid and children.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Shackford had recent guests her mother, Mrs. R. E. Chard, and sister, Mrs. Roberta Smith both of Ft. Myers.

Christian Science Group Of Canal Point

"Doctrine of Atonement" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be heard in Christian Science church services Sunday.

This statement of the Master's will be included in the Bible readings (John 10): "I and my Father are one. . . . If I do not the works of my Father, believe me not. But if I do, though ye believe not me, believe the works: that ye may know and believe, that the Father is in me, and I in him."

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy this selection will be read: "Atonement is the exemplification of man's unity with God, whereby man reflects divine Truth, Life, and Love. Jesus of Nazareth taught and demonstrated man's oneness with the Father, and for this we owe him endless homage. His mission was 'both individual and collective. He did life's work aright not only in justice to himself, but in mercy to mortals, to show them how to do theirs, but not to do it for them nor to relieve them of a single responsibility'" (p. 18).

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hatton accompanied by their daughter, Carol Mae, and Miss Katherine Young, visited their son, Roger, last weekend, at Darlington School for Boys in Rome, Ga. and attended a formal school party.

Miss Mary Suzanne Chastain, Formerly of Canal Point, Is Married To Ray Eugene Ulmer, Jr., In Thomasville, Ga., Church Ceremony

An altar centered with an open Bible and flanked by arrangements of Fugi mums, white stock and jade fern provided the setting for the lovely wedding of Miss Mary Suzanne Chastain, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar H. Chastain of Thomasville, Ga., and Ray Eugene Ulmer, Jr., son of Judge and Mrs. Ray E. Ulmer of Clearwater, Fla., on Sunday, April 15, at the First Baptist Church in Thomasville, Ga., with Rev. Louis Kennedy officiating. The scene was lighted with two seven-branched candelabra. Lighted tapers in double candelabra entwined with fern and Fugi mums and tied with lover's knots of white satin ribbon stood at each side of the rostrum. Family pews were marked with nosegays of mums and fern.

Traditional wedding selections were played by the organist, Mrs. Gwendolyn Cochran, and Mrs. Gretchen Scott, soloist, who sang "Entreat Me Not to Leave Thee" by Charles Gounod, "I Love Thee" by Edward Greig and "The Prayer Perfect" by James Whitcomb Riley.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of silk organza over taffeta with an empire bodice and bouffant train. The bodice fashioned with a bateau neckline and cap sleeves was of imported re-embroidered lace, traced with seed pearls and paillettes. The skirt was defined by a band of Italian silk satin finished off at center back with bow and streamers; bands of satin were appliqued down the sides of the controlled-front, with motifs of the lace scattered over the train. Her pout veil of silk illusion was attached to a pearl-embroidered crown of Alencon lace. She carried a cascade bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley. Her pearl necklace was a gift from the groom.

Miss Lyndell Chastain, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Billie Sue Katsikas and Miss Gail Linane of Ft. Lauderdale; Miss Peggy Ellis, Florence, S. C.; Miss Mimzie Barwick, Thomasville, Ga.; Miss Jerry Ulmer, Clearwater, Fla. and Miss Penny Sasser of Pahokee.

The bride's attendants, carrying sprays of pale yellow carnations, wore identical sheath dresses of aqua silk organza with scoop necklines, cap sleeves and crushed cummerbunds with loops and streamers at the back. Head-pieces of matching organza roses with short circular veils completed their attire.

Judge Richard A. Miller of St. Petersburg, Fla. served as best man for the groom. The ushers were John Chastain, brother of the bride; Luther Taylor, Gulfport, Fla.; Donald McLachlan, St. Petersburg, Fla.; Clifford Snedeker, Tallahassee; Jack E. White, Jr., Clearwater and Don D'Anna of Clearwater.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Chastain chose pure silk chiffon in willow green with sheath skirt and bodice of re-embroidered Alencon lace. Her corsage was of yellow orchids and she wore a small hat of chiffon flowers.

The mother of the bridegroom wore a pure silk crepe in rose beige, featuring a side drape caught with a rhinestone clip. She wore matching accessories and a corsage of green cymbidium orchids.

The reception, given by the bride's parents, was held at the Thomasville Garden Center where greenery and jade trees were used throughout the hall and arrangements of Fugi mums and stock in large cupid compotes on glass tables were featured.

Miss Lynn Ray and Miss Alice Harrison were in charge of the bride's cook at a table covered with an imported organdy cloth and set with an arrangement of tiered candelabra and lilies of the valley.

The bride's table, overlaid with an exquisite imported organdy cloth, was centered with an arrangement of bride's roses and snapdragons in an antique silver bowl. The wedding cake was four tiered and decorated with tiny roses and lilies of the valley. Punch was served from a silver bowl.

In the library, punch was served from a table covered with an antique Battenburg lace cloth which has been used at all the receptions of the grandchildren of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Mack Chastain of Canal Point.

Those assisting the hosts at the reception were the Misses Anne Seeley, Gail Wright, Jenny Braddy, Rosalind and Rosemary Taylor; Mrs. Sidney Smith, Mrs. J. S. Chastain, Mrs. Tom Harrison, Mrs. R. W. Everett, Jr., Mrs. Forrest Knapp, Mrs. Wayne Weeks, Mrs. B. J. Barwick and Mrs. J. C. Scott, Sr. Guests were greeted at the door by Judge and Mrs. J. K. Harp and Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Gurnley.

For traveling the bride wore a three-piece, off white, double knit suit, trimmed in navy and white. Her accessories were red straw hat, navy shoes and bag and a white orchid corsage. After honeymooning at Sea Island, Ga., for a week, the newlyweds will be at 711 E. Gulf Blvd., Indian Rocks Beach, Fla. In May they will move to their home in Dunedin, Fla.

Out of town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Bordes, Canal Point, Florida; Mr. and Mrs. William Van Germent, Ft. Lauderdale, Florida; Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Chastain, Palm Beach, Florida; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Barwick, Pompano Beach, Florida; Mrs. Thomas Arnold, Winter Garden, Florida and Mr. and Mrs. Gregory Ulmer and family, Clearwater, Florida.
